Experience

Kirsten is one of our Directors and is involved in the overall management of the Company as well as being engaged in practical project delivery and management. Kirsten has a strong track record of working with a range of clients to help them to identify key drivers and needs and to drive more social value from their activities. She has undertaken a stakeholder management function for a number of major projects in London including the East London Extension and two Olympics projects. This work has been focused on developing project wide approaches to equality, diversity & inclusion in order to secure community benefits for the diverse communities of London.

Prior to working at fSquared, Kirsten worked as an Environmental Community Worker in Old Trafford where she worked closely with a local community development project to increase community engagement and involvement in environmental projects focused on increasing safety and the use of parks and open spaces in the area. She then moved onto be a Regional Policy Office for the National Trust.
